TRAINING EXERCISE—Murray City Firemen burned a vacant house near Fourth and Sycamore this morning, in a training exercise for new firemen.

The house, which had been vacant for some time, was burned at the request of the owner, who plans to upgrade the property.

July Personal Income Up Substantially

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by a cost of living increase in Social Security benefits, the personal income of Americans in July grew by the largest amount in four months, the government reports.

But the Commerce Department also said Wednesday that businesses increased their inventories by only seven-tenths of one per cent last month, a slight decline from the one per cent increase in June.

Meanwhile, the Labor Department reported it is making significant progress in finding jobs for veterans who were hardest hit by rising unemployment between 1974 and 1976.

The July personal income figures represented the strongest gain since a 1.4 per cent increase in March, which followed a weak showing in February. The increases were seven-tenths of one per cent in April and five-tenths of one per cent in both May and June.

The biggest increase in July was in transfer payments, the money many Americans receive from government income maintenance programs such as Social Security and welfare. They are referred to as transfer payments because they are financed by taxes levied on other people's income.

The Commerce Department said transfer payments rose from $102.1 billion in June to $107.4 billion in July. About $5 billion of that reflects a 5.9 per cent cost of living increase in Social Security benefits.

Total personal income from employment, savings, investment and other sources grew by $11.7 billion, or eight-tenths of one per cent, the report said. Money saved by homeowners who otherwise would have paid rent also is counted as income.

Wages and salaries grew by only five-tenths of one per cent, a slight improvement over the four-tenths increase the month before.

Officials said the slower increase in business inventories last month showed they are just about keeping pace with sales. Total business sales increased by two-tenths of one per cent in June after a one-tenth increase in May.

Sales actually decreased seven-tenths of one per cent at the wholesale level and 1.3 per cent at retail. But sales by manufacturers went up 1.4 per cent.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall announced a $661,170 contract with the Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. to train 432 Vietnam veterans in railroad jobs.

Johnson Likely To Win Senate Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson, who says he hopes he can lead the FBI as well as J. Edgar Hoover did, is likely to win easy Senate confirmation as bureau director, a leading conservative predicts.

Johnson, a federal judge with a strong civil rights record, also drew praise Wednesday from liberals inside the Senate as well as out of Congress as President Carter's choice to lead the FBI.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, divided nearly evenly between liberals and conservatives, is expected to hold hearings on the nomination shortly after Congress returns on Sept. 5 from its summer recess.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., the senior member of the GOP conservative bloc on the panel, said he expects Johnson will win confirmation, barring unforeseen developments.

"I don't know of any special reason why he should be opposed," Thurmond said of the 58-year-old judge noted for decisions upholding the rights of blacks in civil rights cases.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., a leading liberal on the panel, applauded the nomination. "His career on the federal bench has been marked by an unflinching commitment to the concept of equal justice under law and a steadfast determination to guarantee the civil liberties and rights of all Americans," Kennedy said in a statement.

Johnson can expect close questioning from the judiciary committee.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., a committee member, said he is undecided about the nomination. But Allen said he wants to know what motivated Carter to select Johnson, whose decisions in certain cases have intersected him deeply into local and state affairs in Alabama.

"I want to ascertain the basis on which the appointment was made. Was it expertise in law enforcement or because of his rulings with respect to Alabama schools, prisons and mental health?" Allen said.

Committee members also are expected to question Johnson about his stand on intelligence gathering techniques of the FBI and his willingness to resist any political pressures on the agency.

One former FBI official is facing trial and others are under investigation for allegedly illegal use of wiretaps, mail openings and similar practices in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

The selection of Johnson to direct the FBI was announced at the White House Wednesday afternoon by Atty. Gen. Griffin B. Bell. It ended a seven-month search for a successor to Clarence M. Kelley, who is retiring Jan. 1.

Johnson, speaking at a news conference in Montgomery, Ala., said he hoped he could provide "positive, inspirational leadership and management know-how" to aid in the fight against crime.

"I hope I can be as fine a leader as J. Edgar Hoover," the man who had charge of the FBI for 47 years, Johnson said.

Johnson, a Republican, was appointed to the bench in 1955 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower after having served two years as a U.S. attorney in Alabama.

Professor Charges Efforts To Eliminate Blackbirds Are A 'Waste of Effort'

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A University of Louisville zoology professor has charged that the state's efforts to eliminate blackbirds are "a waste of money and effort."

Dr. Burt Monroe, who has completed a study of the use of the chemical deterrent PA-14 (tergitol) as a means of controlling the blackbird population, said it is ineffective against the birds responsible for most agricultural destruction.

Monroe made his report Wednesday to the Environmental Quality Commission, which helped finance his study.

Starlings, not other types of blackbirds, are causing the most agricultural damage in Kentucky, he said.

"If we could get rid of the starling we could live with the blackbird," he said.

Tergitol spraying operations conducted last winter by the state Agriculture Department were relatively useless against starlings, although a number of kinds of blackbirds were killed, Monroe said.

PA-14 is difficult to use because it is effective only under ideal conditions — when the weather is wet and at the freezing point, he said. The spray removes the protective coating from the birds' feathers and, theoretically, they freeze to death.

The cold snowy winter permitted only three eradication attempts using PA-14, and Monroe implied that all were, to some degree, failures.

However, the state Agriculture Department plans to use PA-14 again this winter.

"We're making plans to use it again, as long as it's legal," said John Anderson, deputy agriculture commissioner. He said it's currently the most effective method available to the state and will be used "until we find something better."

Monroe told the commission that the first spraying effort at Russellville last Jan. 13 resembled a "Chinese fire drill" or a "Max Sennett movie." He said about 50,000 blackbirds were killed but that 200,000 returned to the roost the next night.

Another spraying attempt was made at Franklin Feb. 2, but there wasn't any rain, so "about all you could say was that we had cleanest blackbirds in that part of the state," he said.

Conditions were nearly perfect for the third spraying operation at Munfordville Feb. 11, Monroe said. Although 40 per cent of the three million birds in the roost were blackbirds, only one per cent of the 200,000 birds killed by the spray turned out to be starlings, he said.

Monroe said the survival of the starlings confirmed an Ohio State University laboratory finding that starlings can withstand much colder temperatures than blackbirds.

As a result, he said, the PA-14 spraying operations are making the problem of agricultural damage worse because it is allowing the main culprits — starlings — to survive and get a larger share of available food.

Monroe discounted the theory that there has been a blackbird population explosion, saying the reason that there are so many more in Kentucky is because the birds have moved to roosts where the weather and food supply is favorable. Kentucky had mild winters

Farmers Are Reminded To Report Acreage

Calloway County farmers are reminded that they need to report 1977 acreages of wheat, corn, grain sorghum, and barley to the county ASC office by September 1, 1977, Glenn Crawford, Chairman County ASC Committee, said today.

1978 farm program legislation now under consideration in Congress provides that if a set-aside is necessary next year, the amount to be set aside may be based on a percentage of the acreage planted for harvest in 1977, Crawford explained.

Crop acreages and the crop use must be reported on a field-by-field basis, and should be reported prior to harvest.

Crawford emphasized that farmers who fail to report wheat, corn, grain sorghum, and barley acreage will be considered to have no planted acreage and may be ineligible to participate in 1978 program benefits.

Hospital Board To Meet Tonight

The Murray-Calloway County Hospital Board of Commissioners will meet in regular session tonight at 7:15 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the conference room in the hospital and is open to the public.

The board will discuss commercial space in the physicians office building, purchase of lab and C. C. U. equipment, and will hear the usual reports of progress on the building construction at the hospital.

Rape, Robbery Is Under Investigation

The Calloway County Sheriff's Office is investigating a reported rape and robbery at Almo Tuesday afternoon.

The victim, a 79-year-old woman, was also beaten, according to the Sheriff's office. Approximately $80 is believed to have been taken in the incident.

An investigation is continuing into the incident by the sheriff's office, a department spokesman said.

for several years before last year.

Less than five per cent of the 20 to 30 million blackbirds roosting in Kentucky each winter remain in the state during the summer. Most come south from states north of Kentucky.

In contrast, half the starling population is composed of "local, resident birds."

Monroe said he thought an effort should be made to find ways to keep starlings and blackbirds out of feedlots and agricultural areas, than to waste money and time trying to kill them all.

Monroe said he has received a three year grant from the U.S. Interior Department to continue a study of the relationship between blackbird roosts and histoplasmosis, a fungal disease of the lung.

Monroe said preliminary soil and air samplings at a four million bird roost in Jeffersonville revealed no traces of "histo," although 23 different types of airborne fungi were identified.

However, the same fungi, in greater numbers, were present at an open site two miles away from the roost being studied, he said.

Monroe began the study with funds from the Environmental Quality Commission. The commission agreed to distribute copies of Monroe's report as widely as possible throughout the state.

Down Concord Way...

Tim Graves Named As Concord Postmaster

By Estelle Spiceland
August 15, 1977
The Concord community congratulates Tim Graves on being officially appointed as postmaster at New Concord Postoffice.

The newly decorated and air conditioned postoffice adjoining Belson's Grocery is quite an improvement since the tiny cubicle formerly used, or the combination grocery and postoffice of other days run by Joe and Locke Montgomery down in old Concord.

Two other former Concorders, Mrs. Lola Williams and Frank McCuiston, joined that innumerable caravan recently of our former acquaintances who have died.

Both will be remembered for what they have done, but Frank McCuiston's wrought iron sign marking New Concord Cemetery and his work in establishing a permanent cemetery fund here are worthy and lasting memorials to be appreciated always.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lovins and Otis Lovins attended the funeral of Ollie Lewis in Sikeston, Mo., recently. Mr. Lewis' brother and wife, the Lester Lewis', had been real neighbors to the Lovins, in sickness and in health, while living in a cottage near Panorama Shores.

Another neighbor of those days was a dear lady, Mrs. Beulah Dickson, who died in August at Westview.

I know that we leave vacant seats in churches when we attend television services, but hearing on the Jerry Falwell program on Channel 5 Sunday at eleven a. m. an old time gospel preacher, Bro. Laken, took me back down memory lane.

My parents listened to Bro. Laken on radio years ago. Children are to be pitied who never had Godly parents.

But it will take much parental teaching to offset the influence of violence and immorality seen on television in this modern age.

As schools begin again, and there is so much now being said about discipline problems and a lack of knowledge of the basic three R's, teachers have great responsibilities. This poem applies:

"Let me teach in a school by the side of a road

The children, rich and poor, Maybe little bare feet unshod to a street,

Pattering 'round the door. Some humble folk have a heavy yoke

And beckon me back to the sod

So I pray under stars "Let me teach the three R's

And Help lead a child to God."

Bridal Events Given Honor

Mrs. Smith

Mrs. Randy Gerald Smith, the former Maria Jane Haneline, was complimented with several prenuptial events prior to her wedding. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haneline of Farmington.

A bridal tea was given by Mrs. Jimmy Wood, Mrs. Sam Johnson, Jr., Mrs. Clifford Alderdice, Mrs. Fred Wilford, Mrs. Walter K. Jones, and Mrs. Pauline Lamb at the Farmington Community Building.

Miss Jada Brittain and Miss Donna Burton entertained with a personal shower at the Brittain home.

A personal shower was hosted by Miss Lesa Smith at her home.

Mrs. Jerry Falwell, Mrs. Ray Broach, and Mrs. Earl Barnett were hostesses for a swimming party and brunch held at the Barnett home.

Bride-elect Is Honored

A delightful courtesy extended to Miss Beth Richardson, bride-elect of Mark Hurter, was the miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Steve McNeely on Saturday, August 13. Mrs. McNeely and Mrs. Martha Snyder were hostesses.

Guests were high school friends of the honoree. Games were played after which the many gifts were opened.

Sharla Gail Stanley Wed To Mr. Gream At Church

Miss Sharla Gail Stanley became the bride of Brett Thomas Gream at the Hazel Church of Christ at Hazel in a simple impressive ceremony Saturday evening at seven o'clock on July Ninth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stanley of 901 Riggins St., Paris, Tn., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Gream of 812 Caledonia St., Paris, Tn.

Paul Morgan, retired Church of Christ minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The program of music recorded by Robert Dickenson included the themes from "The Young and Restless," "We've Only Just Begun," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Love Story" and the traditional Bridal Chorus by Lohengrin and Wedding March by Mendelssohn.

Bride's Dress

The lovely bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her floor length wedding gown was fashioned of white bridal satin trimmed in Chantilly lace. The empire waistline was marked by a row of lace that peaked at the vee neckline, and the sheer short puffed sleeves were edged in the lace. The A-line skirt terminated in a brief train.

She wore a pearl pendant necklace that was a gift from her aunt Mrs. Ron Marino and her cascade bouquet was of white and yellow daisies and baby's breath.

The bride's matron of honor was Mrs. Marino of Clearfield, Pa., who wore a long yellow sundress with matching shawl. Miss Janet Ordway, the bridesmaid, was wearing a floor length summer sheer in flowered print. The attendants both carried a long stemmed yellow daisy with rainbow streamers.

Chris Hendrix served as the groom's best man and Ron Marino was an usher.

Mr. and Mrs. Brett Thomas Gream

The bride's sister, Miss Krista Stanley and the groom's sister Miss Lori Gream attended the guest register.

Reception

The reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held in the Hazel Community Center after the ceremony.

The serving table, spread with a white lace cloth, was centered by the three tiered wedding cake decorated in yellow roses and crested by a miniature bride and groom and accented by the bridal bouquet.

Assisting with the serving of punch, mints, nuts and cake were Miss Rhonda Stone, cousin of the bride, Miss Lisa Gream, cousin of the groom, and her mother Mrs. Sue Gream.

Following the reception the couple left for a short honeymoon trip.

While the groom finishes six months military service in Germany, his bride will remain here with her parents.

The out-of-town wedding guests included Mrs. Kenneth Ayers of Nashville; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Watson and children of Hillsboro, Texas; Mrs. Ronnie Harris and daughter Amy of Fort Walton Beach, Fla.; Harold Edwards of Lincoln, R. I.; and Mrs. Edith Edwards of Memphis.

Doesn't Care a Fig Leaf for Nudism

By Abigail Van Buren

ABBY: My husband has been interested in nudism for some time, and has tried to get me to go to a nudist camp with him. I have nothing against nudist camps, but I'm just not the type who could strip down naked in front of strangers.

We've had many arguments about this, and have even come close to getting a divorce over it. I don't see how normal people can go to a place like that without getting a few "evil" thoughts. Am I wrong to think this way, or am I evil-minded?

Do you think a man who really loved his wife would want her to go naked in front of other men?

MODEST

DEAR MODEST: Our attitudes about nudity are based on our early training, acquired inhibitions and the accepted social customs of society. Some people go in for unconventional behavior, but that doesn't necessarily make them "evil-minded."

I believe everything has its place—including the fig leaf.

DEAR ABBY: I didn't sleep a wink last night. Yesterday while driving a well-traveled street, I felt a sudden thump, and I knew I hit something. I stopped abruptly, nearly causing an accident, and discovered that I had struck a beautiful golden cocker spaniel puppy.

He had no tags, but I didn't want to waste precious time trying to find his owner, so I put him in my car and rushed him to the vet.

Unfortunately, the puppy had suffered a broken neck and a severed spine and he died shortly after reaching the vet's.

He was such a beautiful dog, it nearly broke my heart. But I was blameless. I wasn't going fast. The dog should not have been loose.

Abby, please ask dog owners to keep their dogs securely tied up. Someone is grieving over the loss of a precious pet, a beautiful animal has lost his life, and I am feeling heartsick over something that was not my fault.

MAINE MOTORIST

DEAR MOTORIST: Well stated. To quote an old political bromide: "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." (I hope.)

DEAR ABBY: Whenever someone writes and asks what they should do about a friend who has bad breath or body odor, you always say, "It would be a kindness to TELL the person."

Well, I know a woman whose breath was so bad she lost three husbands.

I told her once that she needed a good strong mouthwash, and she never spoke to me again.

P.S. I sure didn't miss her.

TABOO SUBJECT

CONFIDENTIAL TO SEPTEMBER BRIDE: If you are concerned only with what you will get out of marriage, your marriage will fail. You may never be divorced, but your marriage will fail nevertheless.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

& GARDEN CENTER
by Jean McClure

With patience and persistence, you can produce a pineapple! Use the top of a store bought pineapple and cut off the flesh. Let the top dry in a shady spot for about a week. Then pull off the dried lower leaves until the stem is bare. Now you are ready to plant. Use a porous planting mix in a small pot. Equal parts of garden loam, sand and peat moss work well. Water when the soil dries out and feed about once a month with a light concentration of liquid fertilizer. Your plant will do nicely in a temperature between 60 and 70 degrees in an east or north window. Be patient—it takes several years for fruit to develop, but you will have an unusual plant to enjoy and cultivate.

At SHIRLEY FLORIST & GARDEN CENTER, 502 North Fourth Street, 753-3251, 753-8944 you will find a large selection of popular and unusual green plants as well as many lovely hanging baskets. When you shop here you don't have to pay high prices to get top quality. For many years SHIRLEY FLORIST & GARDEN CENTER has been meeting the floral and plant needs of this community and we hope to do the same for many more years.

Built On Sand

Keep your Palladian symmetries, your Frank Lloyd Wright orchestration of wood and stone and landscape, your Philip Johnson definitions of light and space. This is the time of year when the most satisfying architecture of all is the beach cottage.

Cottage? Cabin. Shack. The simpler, the less touched with self-conscious, on-duty, winter standards of taste, and even comfort, the better.

What's wanted on the outside is shingles or siding gone silver with sun and salt. Towels and bathing suits drying on the porch rail, along with the collected stones and shells and bits of seaweed that aren't on the windowsill inside. The towels should be the ragged ones retired from in-town bathrooms pretending to color schemes. Chic bathing suits don't count.

Inside, bare rafters and unfinished walls, weather-tight enough to be snug, but thin, the better to hear gull cries and surf sounds, not to mention rain on the roof, while playing Monopoly and Scrabble between sunshines. A floor with sand and wet footprints on it. Windows no cleaner than absolutely necessary for seeing dawns and sunsets.

Acceptable furnishings include odds and ends of second-hand wicker and rattan, along with a flotsam of modest discards in other modes, out-of-date, but not ready for a comeback as antiques. Highly assorted sleeping bags and mattresses. A few books nobody would ever read anywhere else. Style of kitchen equipment: miscellaneous. No clocks, of course.

As for decor, the basic is that beach-combing harvest. The tiny crab, empty and weightless as a dry leaf but somehow intact. The shell not quite like any other, for all its recapitulation of acknowledged marvels in shape and color. Dune grasses in jelly jars on the fireplace mantel next to the mosquito repellent and sunburn cream. Driftwood, advertising the alchemies of sun and air and water in disfigurements no more disfiguring than the Venus de Milo's.

Beyond these, old mooring floats and broken lobster pots are acceptable, hung on protruding nails beside thumbtacked maps and navigation charts. There just might be a poster showing all the fish and crustacea of the region.

Otherwise, nothing. Anything more would have too much back-home, on-the-job striving in it. It would come between you and the benediction of sea rhythms. Which is what you're there for, isn't it?

What It's Like To Jump Ship On Trip To Moon

As spacey as I am, I know now that this in no way implies I am suited for space travel. This realization burst upon me the other day while we were taking in the sights at the Alabama Space and Rocket Center near Huntsville.

We were among a group of 40 people about to take a 12-minute simulated trip to the moon. I had been strapped into a couch-like seat when the young man at the controls said matter-of-factly, "My name is Greg. If at any time you feel you must return to earth, just call my name and we'll return. Also, we don't recommend that anyone with high blood pressure or a heart condition make the trip."

By then, the pit-like enclosure was pitch dark, and Greg was playing a flashlight beam among his strapped-down passengers. Not knowing what to expect and being a long-time fugitive from any kind of whirling apparatus, my pulse was pounding away 100 to nothing in my head.

Without even consulting Cathryn — something I rarely do — I yelled, "Greg! I've got to jump ship! Please let me out of this thing!" The lights came up, the hatch slowly lifted and I bolted for the outside, followed by two women, another man and a little boy — all grateful that I had spoken up.

As a result, I'm a little put-out at my blood pressure, but relieved to know that I'll never have to go to the moon. I could never pass the boarding exam.

If you've never been to the Space Center, you should visit it sometime. Every American should. It makes you proud.

It's only 20 miles east of I-65 at Huntsville, and it leaves you awed at man's unbelievable scientific abilities. I have an idea what most of it was all about, but I'm not smart enough to really comprehend all we saw.

You can buy tickets to the museum only or you can get them good for both the museum and a bus tour of the entire Center. The cost ranges from $2.50 to $3.50 for adults and from $1.50 to $2.50 for little folk under 12.

We started our tour by firing an oxygen-fueled engine. Then we climbed up for a close look at the Apollo 16 command module in which John Young, Charles Dubo and Thomas Mattingly made their 11-day trip to the moon and back in April of 1972.

Nearby was the Mercury capsule in which Alan Shepard became the first American to soar into space on May 5, 1961, and the one in which John Glenn became the first American to orbit the earth on Feb. 20, 1962, going around six times.

A replica of Vostok, the ball-like Russian space ship in which Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin became the first human to orbit the earth just before Shepard's flight, hangs from a ceiling beam. Eight feet in diameter, 11.4 feet high and weighing 2.5 tons, it was used in the space travel film "Marooned," released in 1970.

We got to walk into the Airstream trailer-like quarantine unit in which Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins spent several days and were greeted by Richard Nixon after their historic moon landing. With six big airline seats, a kitchen, bathroom and six bunks, it would make a great Kentucky Lake retreat.

Nearby was an Apollo Lunar Module like the one they used and one of the wire-wheeled Lunar Roving Vehicles like the astronauts who followed them to the moon used. The landing module is 23 feet high, 31 feet wide and reminded me of a big, aluminum-insulated spider. The Rover weighs 1,600 pounds on earth, but only 275 on the moon.

Which led us to stepping on a set of scales which weigh in earth, Mars and moon terms. I weighed 153 pounds on earth, 58.45 pounds on Mars but only 23.83 on the moon.

One of the big Saturn V rockets which carry astronauts to the moon is there as one of each of the rockets used as the space program developed. The size of the Saturn V is unbelievable. Lying on its side on dollies with wheels 6 feet high and with its four stages separated so you can see the huge, intricate engines, its diameter is greater than the height of a four-story building. It has to be at least the length of a city block.

Its five massive liquid-fueled engines consume 5,000 gallons of kerosene and liquid oxygen per second and generate 160 million horsepower — awesome power! All the rockets displayed, they said, are operational, needing only to be fueled and fired if needed.

Near the Saturn V is a mock-up moon landing complete with suited astronauts, the landing module, the greyish moon surface and a planted American flag. Imprinted in the ash-like surface are the huge footprints of the astronauts, some as close together as two feet, others as far apart as 6 or 8 feet, demonstrating the reduced gravity pull on the moon.

The entire Center is extremely interesting and educational, but not without novelty. The coffee you get in the snack bar is brewed with solar energy, and you munch your hot dogs at picnic tables directly beneath the engines of a score or more upright rockets.

If I ever get back that way again, though, I'm going to stick with that flight to the moon. Cathryn and Jeffrey both said there was nothing to it.

In our American way of life, the school systems are probably the most integral factor in shaping a young person's outlook on life, outside the home.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony in Pomona, N. J., the other day was not exactly typical of similar events locally, according to the Associated Press.

The opening day ceremony at Transfair '77, a five-day transportation exhibition and air show, was described as "a piece of cake" by stunt pilot Art Scholl, who cut the ribbon.

Scholl, flying a DeHavilland Chipmunk at 110 miles per hour, performed the honors by barnstorming his small propeller craft upside down 10 feet above the runway and flying through the sash.

Scholl, 45, a Hollywood stunt pilot, says he does about 120 ribbon cuttings a year.

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

Postponing China

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance arrives in Peking Monday (Aug. 22) restrained by President Carter's decision to postpone — though definitely not to reject — the aggressive new China policy urged on him by expert Sinologists in his administration.

That decision was made at a Washington meeting July 30 presided over by the President himself. Vance in China has authority to talk and listen — but not to grant the condition demanded by the Communist regime as the price for full diplomatic relations with Washington: abandonment of Taiwan.

Abandonment was unmistakably pointed to by a top secret policy paper prepared by the administration's resident China experts, and that paper by no means has been repudiated. Rather, the July 30 meeting determined the time was not propitious for so dramatic a shift. "The thinking was," one official told us, "that an awful lot had been attempted in foreign policy, with not that many good results."

This suggests the President has not yet decided the China question, a difficult foreign policy area where he has been tugged and pulled at by advisers. After first hinting at the abandonment of Taiwan, candidate Carter shifted ground in the second presidential debate by pledging "the preservation of the independence and freedom of the people of Taiwan."

Sinologists brought into the Carter administration regarded this as a campaign "retreat" from the ambiguous Shanghai communique of February 1972, in which President Nixon moved toward eventual recognition of Peking to the exclusion of Taiwan. So a speech by Vance on June 29 went beyond the Shanghai communique by acknowledging the existence of only "one China," and one day later the President chimed in by promising only to "make sure that the peaceful lives of the Taiwanese, the Republic of China, is (sic) maintained" — moving away from his campaign support of Taiwan.

Behind this rhetoric is one of Washington's most closely-held and widely-criticized documents: PRM-24, an inter-agency report on China policy. Although the style of listing competing options results in no formal recommendation, there is little disagreement that PRM-24 leads remorselessly to this policy:

A rapid rupture of diplomatic relations with Taiwan and abrogation of the U.S.-Taiwanese defense treaty, permitting full diplomatic relations with mainland China — perhaps setting this up during Vance's trip to Peking. All U.S. governmental facilities would be pulled off Taiwan. However, military aid to Peking would be inadvisable for now.

Behind the smokescreen of competing options, PRM-24 is wrestling with these puzzlers: if diplomatic and military ties were broken with Taiwan, how could the island be protected? By military aid without a defense treaty? By coaxing Peking into some guarantee?

Whether or not the President's advisers finally realized they were facing an inherent contradiction, the consensus gradually grew in the administration's upper reaches that PRM-24 could not now be followed to its conclusion. The fact Mr. Carter had his hands full — Israel, Panama, Korea, Cuba — was the reason for the July 30 decision to make Vance's journey a goodwill, exploratory visit.

Even so, China policy remains in the hands of the three principal authors of PRM-24. Sinologists Michel Oksenberg of the National Security Council (NSC) staff and William Gleysteen of the State Department want existing ties with Taiwan broken. The third collaborator, NSC director Zbigniew Brzezinski, is far less interested in deserting Taiwan than in strengthening the U.S.-Peking link at the expense of Moscow.

The gray eminence guiding this policy is Sinologist Doak Barnett at the Brookings Institution, who warns that failure to formalize relations with Peking could provoke Sino-Soviet approchement. Harvard Professor-emeritus John K. Fairbank is the policy's father-figure; his New York Times article urging the U.S. to meet Peking's demands for cutting ties with Taiwan is cited favorably by high-ranking U.S. officials.

PRM-10, the secret inter-agency document on world-wide U.S. military force structures, reflects the hold of the Barnett-Fairbank thesis. It compares a "current presence baseline" (Alaska-Japan-Korea-Okinawa-Philippines) in the Pacific with a "reduced presence baseline" (Alaska-Japan-Okinawa-Guam); nowhere in the massive document is the military significance of Taiwan even mentioned. What reappears intermittently is fear of Sino-Soviet rapprochement.

Despite the administration's human rights campaign, the moral argument against abandoning 17 million citizens of Taiwan who live in incomparably greater freedom than 800 million mainland Chinese does not interest the President's Sinologists. Less idealistically, the President might want to consider what the hard-headed gentlemen in Peking think of a superpower with so little faithfulness toward small allies. By giving Vance a limited mission, the President gives himself more time to compare the advice of his Sinologists with competing advice from others.

Letter To The Editor

Against 'No-Fault'

Dear Editor:

My experience with "no-fault" automobile insurance is quite different from the rosy picture outlined in your editorial of Saturday, August 13th. I don't believe that most people understand the no-fault system because I have had to explain it to many of them when they come into my office seeking legal redress for injuries suffered by some drunk who was on the wrong side of the road, ran a red light and smashed into their car. I have had to explain to them that even though they were incapacitated, sore and unable to function for weeks as a result, they could expect no compensation from the drunk or his insurance company because their medical bills were only $950.00 and the law says that they must be $1,000.00.

I have also had to explain to them that under the law they are required to insure themselves against the negligent actions of drunks such as this one or the Commonwealth would haul them into court, fine them and possibly throw them in jail to boot.

We already have "no-fault" labor (workman's compensation), divorce, and now, automobile insurance. I foresee "no-fault" crime in our future under the guise that the perpetrator really did not mean to rape, it was all society's fault, and therefore society should pay the bill, not the individual. This will save taxpayers great expense for judges, lawyers, courtrooms, etc., and should make people such as Insurance Commissioner McGuffey very happy.

I think, though, that most of us would prefer that the individual be responsible for his actions because we believe it causes him to be more cautious and aware of the rights of others, and because we believe it is just.

The right of access to a courtroom in front of a jury of one's peers is a hard-won right. It is an essential element of a democracy. I believe that "no-fault" erodes that right.

Sincerely,
Max W. Parker

Alford Gets Fourth Title At Oaks

Mary Jane Alford has this thing about the Oaks Country Club. She likes to tear it up. Surviving wind, rain and a field of fine golfers, the Paducah native fired an 80 Wednesday afternoon at the Oaks to win the Tri-State Golf Tournament.

It was her fourth tourney championship she has won on the Oaks golf course. In addition to her win Wednesday, she has captured the crown three times in the Oaks Ladies Invitational.

"It was very muddy and the course played extremely long," Mrs. Alford said. "You just had to guess how the ball was going to come flying out of the wet grass. The whole situation was changed around and the course was extremely tough to play. We had the rain and wind in our eyes during the first few holes of play," she added.

There was a shotgun start and the ladies played straight through, thus the leading foursome did not play together nor were scores turned in after the first nine holes. That simply meant nobody knew who was leading the tourney until it was over. "There was no pressure on me at all, since I didn't know I was winning. I really didn't pay much attention to my scorecard and I didn't know I had won the tournament until I got in and looked at the posted scores. It was just a nice, calm game," Mrs. Alford added.

While it was calm to Mrs. Alford, it was far from calm to Mary Bain and Debbie Warford, both of whom played in the same foursome. Bain, a Sikeston native and a member of the Oaks Club, lost her chance to force a playoff when she missed a 15-foot par putt on the 18th. The putt rolled about two inches off to the left of the cup.

The bogey seven left her with an 81.

Warford lost the tournament on one hole, picking up a triple bogey on number two, after hitting out-of-bounds. She had an eight on the hole and wound up shooting at 82 for the day. Had she parred the hole, she could have won the tourney. Six places were given in each flight. Rounding out the top six in the championship flight were Betty Vowell of Fulton with an 84, Betty Dawson of Sikeston with an 86 and Sandy Weintraub of Mayfield with an 86.

The key to the victory by Mrs. Alford was her putting. She needed just 26 putts on the afternoon. "I really think the greens were easy to read," Mrs. Alford said. "But another big thing was getting pars on the par-three holes. You can't get bogeys on the par-threes and expect to win tournaments," she added. Mrs. Alford had previously won the Daisy Tournament at Ballard County and she also won the Tri-State Tournament at the Paducah Country Club.

In other flights, Betty Shepard of the Oaks had a 94 and won the first flight while Jo Spitzmiller was second with a 95 and Mary Alice Smith third, also with a 95. Rounding out the top six were Toni Hopson of the Murray Country Club with a 96, Inus Orr of the Murray Club with a 97 and Mary Bogard of the Oaks with a 97.

Donna Owen of Mayfield had a 97 and won the second flight while Helen Glover, also of Mayfield, had a 99 and was second. Rounding out the top six were Janice Benton of Paducah, Helen Ross of Paducah, Virginia Jones of the Oaks and Nell Tackett of the Oaks.

Honors in the third flight went to Ada Sue Roberts of the Oaks. She had a 98. The remainder of the top six included Margaret Schmidt of Metropolis, Barbara Hambrick of Sikeston, Ruth Fritts of Paducah, Oliva Cave of Paducah and Jean Russell of Paducah.

Expos Score 13 Runs To End Phils' 13-Game Winning Mark

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer
It may have been the law of averages or it may have been a touch of fate. Whatever it was, it certainly confused Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark.

"How can you account for us losing tonight with our best pitcher," Ozark wondered following the Philadelphia's 13-0 drubbing at the hands of the Montreal Expos.

Ozark may have been baffled by the loss that snapped the Phillies 13-game winning streak, the longest in the majors this season, but Expos' Manager Dick Williams and his Expos seemed to have all the answers — especially when it concerned Steve Carlton's pitching.

"They're an excellent club, but if you're going to get beat, that's the best way," Williams smiled after the game. "However, you'll see a different game tomorrow, and it sure won't be lopsided."

A run-scoring single by Sam Mejias, Stan Bahnsen's perfect squeeze bunt, Dave Cash's single and Warren Cromartie's 35th double produced four Montreal runs in the second.

Gary Carter continued the Montreal onslaught in the third with the first of his two home runs on the night, a two run shot, to give the Expos a 6-0 lead game off Carlton, 17-7.

In other National League action, St. Louis blanked New York 2-0, Atlanta whipped Houston 9-6, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 4-2, San Diego defeated Cincinnati 7-4 and the game between San Francisco and Los Angeles was rained out.

Cardinals 2, Mets 0
Bob Forsch fired a two-hitter and Hector Cruz and Mike Tyson drove in sixth inning runs as St. Louis broke a three-game losing streak. Forsch, 15-5, gave up a first-inning single to Bruce Boesch and a sixth-inning single to Lenny Randle in recording his sixth complete game of the season.

Cubs 4, Pirates 2
Bobby Murcer drilled two home runs and Rick Reuschel struck out 11 batters to give Chicago their second consecutive win over Pittsburgh.

Reuschel, 16-5, won his first game since a relief victory on July 28. He scattered eight hits and walked three.

Padres 7, Reds 4
Rookie Bill Almon drove in five runs, including three on his second major league home run, and San Diego took advantage of five Cincinnati errors in snapping a three-game losing streak.

Almon drilled a three-run homer in the fourth and added a two-run single in the fifth in supporting Bob Shirley's seventh win in 22 decisions. Rollie Fingers picked up his 27th save of the season.

Braves 9, Astros 6
Jeff Burroughs broke a tie game with a two-run homer in an eight-run sixth inning and Willie Montanez followed with a solo smash as Atlanta ended a four-game losing streak.

Expos Being Sued By City Over Stadium

MONTREAL (AP) — The city of Montreal has sued the Montreal Expos of baseball's National League for $716,373 in Quebec Superior Court.

The suit, filed Wednesday, alleges the Expos still have a valid lease on Jarry Park where the team played seven seasons, which does not expire until March, 1978. The city claims it didn't get notice that the team planned to move from the 28,500-seat Stadium until March, 1977.

The Expos began playing at Jarry Park in 1969 and moved to the Olympic Stadium this spring.

Most of the money claimed by the city is the team's share of renovating Jarry. The city wants $538,318 plus about $167,000 in interest. Another $12,000 is from a clause in the lease which promised Montreal five per cent of gate receipts.

Maybe you don't make a $3,000 loan every day, but we do.

Actually, that's just a middle-size loan for us these days. We make some for less. And a lot for a lot more.

So we're not a "small-loan" company, but a large loan center. And a good one.

Homeowner loans, too.

When you're after really large amounts, the equity in your home is a valuable asset. You can use that equity to back very sizable loans from us. And that's nice to know.

Next time you want money, whatever the reason, think of us. If you're more comfortable feeling you can depend on us for small loans, we really don't mind. Because you can.

But remember, we mostly think big.

Yanks Rip Tigers, Rangers Lead In Hectic American League West

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Milt May said Fernando Arroyo "was throwing real good," which is a normal thing for a catcher to say about his pitcher except that not too many of Arroyo's pitches got as far as May.

New York's Mickey Rivers hit Arroyo's first pitch for a home run. Roy White tripled on the next delivery and Thurman Munson picked on pitch No. 3 for a double.

At that point, May had no idea what kind of stuff Arroyo had. He hadn't caught one yet. And nine pitches later — a Reggie Jackson strikeout and a Chris Chambliss triple — Arroyo was gone, the losing pitcher as the Yankees downed the Detroit Tigers 7-5.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Milwaukee Brewers cooled off the Boston Red Sox 5-3, the Texas Rangers inched into first place in the AL West by nipping the Toronto Blue Jays 6-5 in 10 innings, the Seattle Mariners edged the Minnesota Twins 3-2 and the Kansas City Royals defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3.

After the Yankees kayoed Arroyo, John Hiller yielded a single to Willie Randolph for the final run of the first inning.

"I thought he (Arroyo) was throwing real good," May said. "He had good velocity. Fernando threw as good as he has all year. You've got to give the hitters credit."

Brewers 5, Red Sox 3
Two-run homers by Don Money in the first inning and Jamie Quirk in the fourth off Rick Wise enabled Milwaukee to snap the Red Sox' latest winning streak at five games. Quirk's third homer of the season provided the decisive margin as the Red Sox lost for only the second time in their last 18 games. Their AL East lead was trimmed to three games over idle Baltimore and 3½ over the Yankees.

Rangers 6, Blue Jays 5
Jim Sundberg delivered a two-strike, two-out single to score Toby Harrah from second base in the bottom of the 10th inning and propel the Rangers into first place in the West, one-half game ahead of the Chicago White Sox, who were idle, and Minnesota.

Dan Meyer's two-run single through a drawn-in infield in the seventh inning snapped a 1-1 tie and gave Paul Mitchell his first victory of the season. The Twins made it 3-2 in the eighth on singles by Dan Ford and Mike Cabbage and Roy Smalley's run-scoring grounder.

Royals 5, Indians 3
John Mayberry slugged a three-run homer in the first inning but Kansas City needed RBI singles by Hal McRae and Pete LaCock in the eighth to break a 3-3 tie. The fourth-place Royals are only 1½ games off the pace in the torrid West Division race.

Owners Decide To Give Bowie Kuhn More Power

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The major league's baseball meetings have ended early with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn gaining renewed powers and major league franchises deciding to keep all their minor league teams.

A proposal to allow major league teams to drop support of their AA minor league club was defeated Wednesday "in a divided vote," Kuhn announced at a news conference following the day-long meetings. The defeat of the amendment was something of a surprise. As a cost-cutting measure, it would have left major league franchises obligated to support only one AAA and one A minor league team.

"Each team will continue support of AAA, AA and A clubs," Kuhn said. By unanimous vote, the owners changed wording in the Professional Baseball Rules to grant the commissioner's office the power to take away a team's draft choices and levy a fine up to $250,000 for tampering with another team's player. The move was prompted by a recent court decision involving Atlanta owner Ted Turner, wherein a federal judge ruled that Kuhn could not take Atlanta's draft choices because such powers were not spelled out in major league by-laws.

In other action, the owners voted to: Switch the interleague trading period from Feb. 15-March 15 to March 1-April 1, retain the ban on player incentive bonuses and prohibit players from adding contract language that would obligate their club to pay their agent.

The interleague trading period and the prohibition on clubs paying agent salaries will have to be approved by the Players Association. In league meetings earlier in the day, the National League, on a 10-2 vote, decided again not to adopt the designated hitter rule. The National League also adopted a resolution honoring the late P.K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, and instituted an annual "Lou Brock Award." Named in honor of the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, the award will be given each year to the National League's leading base-stealer.

TENNIS

NEW YORK — The United States Tennis Association agreed to accept transsexual Dr. Renee Richards as an entrant in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills. The USTA's decision came a day after Dr. Richards obtained a preliminary injunction barring the USTA, the U.S. Open Tennis Championship Committee and the Women's Tennis Association from excluding her because she had failed a chromosome test.

TORONTO — West German Katja Ebbinghaus defeated Evonne Goolagong 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 in the first round for women at the Canadian Open tennis championships.

Tigers' Defense Will Be Much Smaller But Somewhat Quicker

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Numbers play a big part in sports.

For instance, the numbers 269 and 34 had a lot to do with the 9-1 record last season by the Murray High Tigers.

The first number was how many points the Tigers scored during the course of the season, the second number was how many the opponents scored.

The important number this year, in regards to the Tiger defense, is zero. No, that's not a prediction of how many points Murray High is going to give up this year, far from it in fact.

Zero is exactly how many starters return to the Murray High defense unit.

Even in off-years, the Tigers have built a reputation for playing good, solid and hard-hitting defense. Now that's not saying this is going to be an off-year but even with all of the problems, the lack of lettermen and the lack of experience, the Tigers should maintain their tradition of having a good defensive club.

If Tiger coach John Hina so elects, he can go with two big tackles, though neither looks quite as awesome on the front four as 6-8, 340-pound Lee Miller looked last year.

The two big tackles are a pair of 265-pounders, senior

Lane Bridwell and junior David Stephenson. The Tigers go six-deep at the position. Also expected to see playing time are juniors Jeff Kaysave and Timmy Adams along with sophomores Zach Jones and Dwight McDowell.

The Tigers appear fairly strong at the two defensive end spots. The leading candidate, as far as experience is concerned, is senior Alvin Parham, who is built like the mascot of Teddy Roosevelt's Progressive Party in his 1912 presidential bid.

Also expected to be playing as defensive ends are Paul Whiteford, Willie Perry and Kyrile Catlett. Whiteford is a 6-1, 165-pound junior while Perry, a 6-1, 170-pound senior, is out for the first time. Perry has very good speed and is showing fine progress as is Whiteford. Catlett, a 6-2, 160-pound senior who came here from St. Louis last year, has outstanding speed.

Sizing up the defensive front four, the Tigers appear to have much less size than last year but possibly, a little more speed.

"We are inexperienced and people will just have to have a little patience with us," Hina said.

The rest of the defensive alignment is shaping up quite well.

Five players are battling for the two inside linebacker spots. They include Robert Whitmer, John Denham, Frank Gilliam, Nicky Swift and Terry Grogan, Gilliam, the only player with a lot of experience, is expected to start.

There are also five players battling for the two outside linebacker spots. They include Keith Cartwright, Mike Hibbard, Nick Hibbard, Mike Utley and Keith Farless.

"The linebacker positions was one of the areas we were concerned about before we began practice," Hina said. "But thus far, we've been quite pleased with our linebacker play. They have all made real good progress," Hina added.

The strongest part of the Tiger defense should be the secondary. There is quite a bit of speed there and some experience to boot.

Six deep is how the Tigers stand at the two cornerback spots. In the running for the jobs are Thomas Kendall, Claude Johnson, Craig Johnson, Bo Reed, Roy Richardson and Charlie Wells.

Battling for the safety position are Grettis Bumphis, Bradley Wells and Terry Smith.

The key for the Tiger defense is going to be up front. Murray High must get good play from the front four and from the linebackers. In simple terms, the Tigers must be able to stop the ground attack of opposing teams.

But a team that likes to pass a lot could find itself in trouble as the Tigers appear to be loaded with potential in the secondary. However, potential does not become talent overnight.

"You can make a mistake up on the line every now and then and the secondary can kind of help cover it up," Hina said.

"But one breakdown in the secondary usually means six points," he added.

There are two good things you can say about the Tigers' schedule: first of all, it's one of the most attractive schedules ever. Secondly, the first two games are non-District contests and that means, there's not quite as much pressure on the kids, especially since spring practice was outlawed and the coaching staff is still not decided upon the personnel situation.

The season opens at Reidland September 2 then the following Friday, Murray hosts Fulton County.

"We aren't trying to take anything away from them but the fact they are non-District games makes it a lot better for us, considering we're a young team," Hina said.

"I'm sure Fulton County and Reidland have real fine ballclubs but since they are non-District that will give us a little more time to mature for the District play and that's what counts," Hina added.

There has been one addition to the coaching staff.

Jerry Shelton, who served as an assistant before Hina became head coach, joins James Pigg, Rick Fisher and Bruce Walker as assistants to Hina.

Yesterday, the Tigers elected co-captains for the season. They are Greg Garland, Frank Gilliam and Claude Johnson.

The Tigers make their unofficial debut tomorrow night at the West Kentucky Football Jamboree as they will battle 3-A foe Lone Oak.

The first game will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will find Heath meeting Caldwell County. Murray will play Lone Oak in the second game and in the final contest, Reidland will play Trigg County.

Lone Oak will be much like the Tigers: experimenting.

Fred Gibson is the new head coach and he has not had much time to acquaint himself with the skill of his personnel. Gibson would like to install the veer offense at Lone Oak so Friday's game could be quite interesting.

Lone Oak has several big linemen returning off last season's 5-4 team but they lost all of their backfield.

TOMORROW: For the fans who plan to go to the game, pick up a copy of the paper before you leave. We'll have the Tiger roster in numerical order so you'll know who is who and in addition, we'll have interviews with some of the other coaches in the jamboree.

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

If you're planning an unusual venture, it would be wise to "go it alone" for the present. Associates may be unreliable or impractical.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

A good word from the right source may enable you to attain the recognition you have been seeking. You have just cause for optimism.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Stick close to facts and control your imagination. Don't try to put a square peg into a round hole. Pick your way discreetly.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

You may face some complications — in quite unexpected areas. How you handle situations and the pace you set will determine their solution.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

What's expedient is not always wise. Be careful where and when you must refuse, consent, or dismiss suggestions from your mind. But don't automatically reject another's idea.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Face possible changes with equanimity. With YOUR know-how and ingenuity, you can cope. Romance in high favor.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Certain problems which have been bothering you may be resolved now. Good deeds of the past may also pay off. It should be a very happy day.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

An auspicious period! Go after whatever is worthwhile — with all the vigor you can muster. By-pass trifles which interfere with essentials.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Personal relationships at their best. In fact, a friend or close associate may be instrumental in helping you to solve a difficult situation.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Try not to set too fast a pace — either for yourself or others. You could find that you've expended a lot of time and energy to no useful purpose.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't start anything without knowing if you can follow through. All efforts and ambitions must be carefully directed now. Neither follow new trends blindly.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Be careful in handling personal affairs; there may be some tricky areas, a few kinks to iron out before taking action. Some conflict of interests indicated.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect and are extremely progressive in your thinking. You have a flair for the dramatic but, unlike many Leoites, are usually more attracted to business than the stage. Your sense of the theatrical evidences itself no matter what career you pursue, however. In either business or governmental positions, your leadership is such that those under your supervision, drawn to you almost magnetically, follow with almost blind loyalty; in the legal field, your histrionics would make you an excellent trial lawyer. Other fields in which you could shine: finance, invention, exploration, archeology. But you do belong in public life. Let's Stay Well

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Herpes Virus Infection

Q: Mr. T.L. says that he has heard that a virus infection on the genital organs may continue to be contagious for a long time. He asks, "How long should a person with such an infection refrain from sexual intercourse?"

A: Such virus infections (genital herpes) are fairly common, locally painful, and infectious.

The infection causes the inflamed area to be very sensitive in the male or female. The skin of the penis, vulva, or buttocks feels at first as if it has been sunburned. Patches of redness follow, and they may become hardened and swollen. Blisters, containing clear fluid, next appear. These break and leave an ulcerated area. Pain usually persists during these stages and may continue even after the skin has healed. The virus can be cultured from such open lesions, making the person infectious.

In the later stages, the ulcerated areas heal. When such healing has taken place, many physicians feel that the chances of infecting a sexual partner ner have been greatly reduced or eliminated. However, local soreness may persist and make the sexual act uncomfortable.

Another added precaution is for the male to wear a condom. It will protect sensitive areas on the penis and prevent direct contact with the lining tissues of the vagina. --- Lecithin as a Diet Supplement

Q: Mrs. J.J. writes that she has been told by a friend that daily consumption of lecithin as a diet supplement can aid in lowering cholesterol in the blood and in slowing the aging process. "If this is so," she asks, "what is the proper amount of lecithin to be used?"

A: Your friend's advice has no scientific basis in fact.

Lecithin (a phospholipid) is nontoxic and can be taken without harm as a supplement to your diet, but do not expect it to

SOYBEAN, SORGHUM HARVESTS

Soybean harvests are expected to total 3,270,000 tons, 82 per cent over last year, and double and quadruple the past five-and-10-year average.

Sorghum production should reach 6,700,000 tons, 32 per cent over last year, the Agriculture Secretariat said.

reduce your blood cholesterol or to slow your aging. Lecithin is not an essential nutrient. It is regularly formed in the body in adequate amounts and found in all tissues, especially in the nervous system and liver.

The use of lecithin as a diet supplement is generally regarded as useless.
